ONSITE ENGINEER SUPPORT

Your company runs critical applications to ensure business runs like clockwork. However for that to happen, applications need to run like clockwork, and so do the IT infrastructure supporting them.

That's what Progression ensures with the Facility Management Service.

On-site engineers backed by a team of remote experts, ensure quick recovery from any system failure, and coordinate and follow-up with third party vendors/service providers for equipment under warranty.

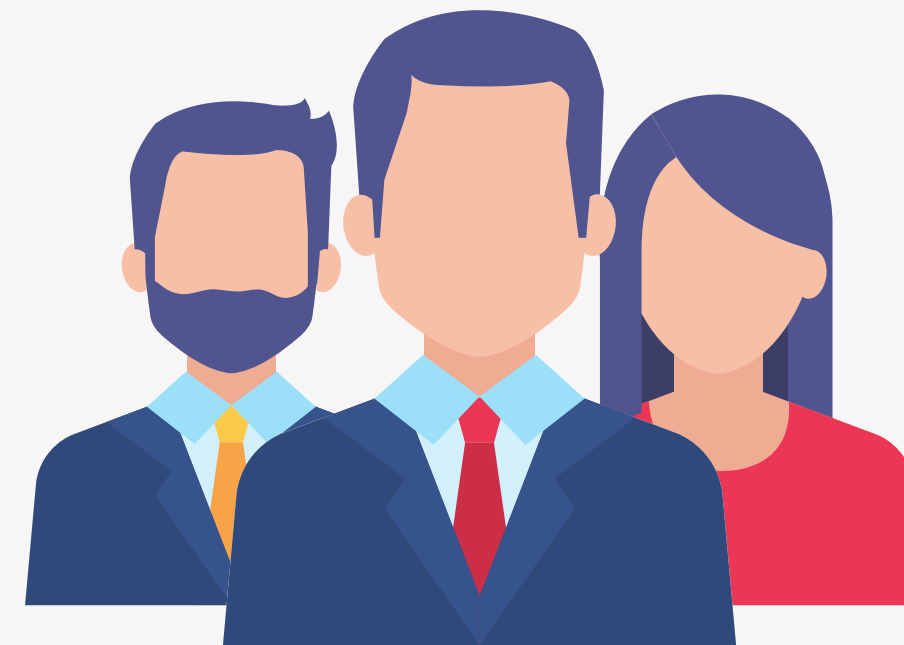

Progression's objective is to ensure that the business sees as little downtime as possible.
